Dear Doctor Hašek:

My colleague, Dr. Leonard A. Herzenberg, has become interested within the last 18 months in the purification of H-2 antigens from mice and in utilizing the materials obtained for immunologic and chemical characterization of these antigens. I enclose a manuscript of his which will appear in the June issue of the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences (Washington).

If it is appropriate, I hope you will consider including him in your Symposium to be held in Prague this November. He has been corresponding with Professor Medawar and plans to spend a few days in his laboratory after the Symposium.
